NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

Wheat has dropped to 75 cents at Independence.

There are 43 students enrolled in La Creole academy at Dallas.

The county lodge, I. O. G. T., of Polk county, will be held at Monmouth Oct. 24th.

About 151,000 bushels of wheat have been stored in the farmers' warehouse at Independence.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dempsey, of Dixie, rejoiced a few days since in the birth of their eighth daughter.

Wells Dornsife, of Independence, thrashed in forty-one days 55,322 bushels of grain during the harvest just ended.

The hop pickers about Buena Vista have finished their work and returned to their homes. They were paid forty cents per box this year, an advance of two and one-half cents over the usual price paid. There were two deaths among them while there—one from consumption, and one from general debility.

B. R. Biddle, one of the early pioneers of Oregon, but a resident of Healdsburg, Cal., since 1875, died at the latter place on the 18th of September, aged 71 years. He was for many years a resident of Corvallis and was widely known throughout Benton county. Three children survive him, one of whom, Mrs. O. S. Porter, resides in Oregon.

Washington Territory.

Ice formed one-eighth of an inch thick in Dayton, last Friday night.

The new bank building at Cheney is 24x50 feet, built substantially of brick and is two stories high.

The N. P. R. R. pays tax on $452,706 in Spokane county. Marshall Field is the largest individual taxpayer in that county, being assessed at $12,305.

There are no new cases of diphtheria in Walla Walla, the late frosts having operated as a check upon the disease. There is but one case now in the hands of physicians.

Sixty-four pupils were in attendance at the opening exercises of the Colfax academy last week. This attendance on the opening day is unparalleled in the history of the school, 33 being the highest number recorded heretofore.

A subscription was started last week for a new school house at Davenport. J. C. Davenport starts the list with $100, followed by G. H. Morgan with $50 and Mr. Gilman with 250. About $500 have been raised and the new town will soon have a commodious school room.

Cheney Sentinel: Old man Neil, father of Aldey Neil, who was lynched by the vigilantes at Rockford last May, has been in the city the present week, and will present to the grand jury such evidence as he has collected against certain citizens of that vicinity as implicating them in the murder of his son.

The cost of the Oakes house, the new hotel at Cheney, up to this date, has been $38,000. It will be opened to the public on the 5th inst. T. F. Oakes' present to the house in the shape of a handsome and costly stand of colors, has arrived and will be thrown to the breeze on that occasion. H. W. Fairweather has presented the Oakes with a splendid sign.

Cheney Sentinel: The work of threshing and moving the grain crop has only fairly commenced. A considerable bulk of oats comes into Cheney from the south side, and as many as 30 wagons a day draw up at the warehouses. Davenport, Thompson & Co. have stored 20,000 bushels so far. The price to-day is 34 cents per bushel. Wheat is coming in slowly, though the local demand is more than supplied. It brings 75 cents per bushel. Some barley has been stored at $1 50 per 100 pounds. The potato market is dull with more offered than the dealers here are yet prepared to handle. Only a small proportion of the crop has yet been dug. The price is now 60 cents per bushel and dealers predict a falling off from this figure. Onions are worth 2 cents, eggs 30 cents per dozen, turnips 1 cent per pound, beets 2 cents, carrots ¾ cents, parsnips 1 cent.

A Million Dollars for a University.

From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Hon. W. C. De Paw, of New Albany, Ind., has surprised every one of his munificent gifts to institutions of learning connected with the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. De Paw is a prominent democrat and is more or less interested in politics. He also manages a large business. About three years ago the business men of Cincinnati held a noon-day prayer-meeting. It was suggested that a telegram be sent to W. C. De Paw, New Albany, inviting him to lead the meeting on the following day, and give a short talk on the higher life, or sanctification. Mr. De Paw responded and conducted the services, as requested. He has just returned from a 13 months' absence in Europe and Palestine to make the following propositions to the trustees of Asbury university at Greencastle, Ind.: 1. That he will give $1,000,000 on certain conditions, viz.: That $100,000 shall be raised at once to enable the university at Greencastle to run without arrearage on its present basis. 2. That 100 acres more of land be purchased for a campus and paid for to meet the enlarged wants of the institution. 3. The colleges of the state, Asbury, Moore's Hill and Fort Wayne, become parts of the university. It is said that the medical department will be situated in Indianapolis, and new buildings will be erected at Greencastle for law and other departments. Mr. De Paw has heretofore given $50,000 to Asbury university, besides founding a college at New Albany that bears his name. Some of the conditions of the above proposition have already been met.

The New York Republican Situation.

From the Albany Journal.

Plain words are best. The Saratoga convention has signally failed to respond to the sentiment of the republican party. The convention which evolved the nomination of Folger last night from the chaos of a turbulent body and an incapable chairman was not the convention which the people elected at the primaries. Treachery, greed and cowardice ran a swift race through the hotel corridors at Saratoga Tuesday night to the goal which Jay Gould and the administration had so lavishly gilded. The people were betrayed, defrauded and sold out. There is no need to mention names. Men grown gray and fat in the well rewarded livery of the party cheated their constituents at home of the bidding of the party's worst enemies.

From the Utica Herald.

Time is needed to tell whether the republicans of New York state will tolerate a result which has been achieved against their deepest convictions, by means which force [illegible] to the cheek. It is certain that the party organization has never been subjected to a severer strain than that now placed upon it.

Feared the Judge was Prejudiced.

From the Austin (Texas) [illegible]

A young Austin lawyer was appointed to defend a negro who was too poor to hire counsel of his own. MITCHELL'S BRIBERS.

A Direct Attempt on a Representative from Marion County.

WATERS OF MULTNOMAH OFFERS THE BRIBE.

A Tender of $2500 and the Salem Postoffice—An Effort by Waters to Earn his old Place as U. S. Marshal.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

SALEM, Oct. 2, 10 P. M.—The house committee appointed to investigate the charges of attempted bribery, as it now stands, Messrs. Pattersen and Jamison, met in the speaker's room at 7:30 P. M.

Hon. A. N. Gilbert, member of legislature from Marion, was called and being sworn testified as follows:

E. Y. Thompson and Judge Bonham conducted the examination on the part of the committee and N. B. Knight for Mitchell, who was present.

In opening Mr. Thompson said: "The object, Mr. Gilbert, of this investigation, as I understand it from a perusal of resolution No. 14 passed by the house, is to ascertain whether there is any evidence of bribery or attempt at bribery touching the senatorial contest now pending. If you have any knowledge of this subject please make it known to the committee."

A. On Sept. 26th, between 2 and 4 P. M. I received at the hands of a page of the house a note. On opening the envelope I found a communication signed "W. A. Waters." On reading the note I found it contained an inquiry, said inquiry being: "When and where can I see you?" I took my pencil and at the bottom and upon the same sheet of paper on which the inquiry was written, I wrote: "At my house at 6 P. M." This I enclosed in an envelope, sealed it and directed it to W. A. Waters, senator, and handed it to the page. At or about six o'clock, Mr. Waters came to my house. He was admitted by some one of the family, shown to a room, and I was notified of his presence, and his wishing to see me. I went into the room where he was, and he immediately commenced a conversation in regard to the election of senator, and in that conversation, as an inducement for my support and for the support of another member of the legislature, whom he named, offered me $2500 and the Salem postoffice. That is the statement I have to make.

Q—Please state whether you had any other conversation with Senator Waters on the subject of the senatorial contest since the legislature convened?

A—I had another interview on Court street last week. Some time in this conversation Waters tried to convince me I was making a mistake in the position I had taken on the senatorial question. That's the only conversation I had with Waters on the subject that I can recall now.

Q—How long did the interview last which occurred at your house between yourself and Waters?

A—Fifteen minutes. Not to exceed twenty minutes.

Q—State if you know who Senator Waters has favored and supported for U. S. senator during the present session of the legislature?

A—J. H. Mitchell.

Q—Have you now stated to this committee all you know touching any attempt by any person at undue influence with a view to control the action of members of the assembly upon the senatorial contest?

CROSS-EXAMINED BY KNIGHT.

Q. You are of the eighteen republicans who refused to go into caucus and have since refused to support the caucus nominee, are you not?

A.—Yes.

Q—You have been and are now opposed to election of Mitchell to the senate?

A.—Yes.

Q—What relation is Senator Waters to you or your family?

A—No relation to me. Waters' sister is an aunt by marriage of my wife.

Q—You state in your direct admission that Waters came to your house on the evening of the 26th of Sept. by your invitation. Now state whether you invited the relative of your wife into your family for the purpose of entrapping him and exposing him to criminal charges.

A—I did not.

Q—Were any of the members of your family present or any body else during this conversation?

A—No other person was present.

Q—Did you have any person near to hear the conversation which you and your wife's relative had that evening?

A—No, sir.

Q—You state in your direct examination that Senator Waters offered you $2500 and the Salem postoffice for your own and another member's support. You did not say for who's support. Now state whether Senator Waters informed you by whom he was authorized to make that proposition to you.

A—He did not.

Q—State how long Waters remained at your house that evening.

A—Not to exceed twenty minutes.

Q—How long did he remain there after making the proposition to you?

A—Ten or fifteen minutes.

Q.—Then he must have made that proposal within five or ten minutes after he arrived; did he not?

A.—He did. There was no hesitancy.

Q.—What answer did you make him?

A.—I told him that I could not entertain any such proposition.

Q.—Did that end the conversation on that subject?

A.—He tried to impress upon me that under the circumstances that was the best thing for me to do.

Q.—Didn't he tell you that it was your duty as a republican to support the caucus nominee?

A.—Not in that conversation that I remember.

Q.—Did you have any other conversation with him that P. M. upon any other subject?

A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you feel indignant at his offer?

A.—Not particularly so.

Q.—You did not order him to leave your residence when he made that alleged infamous proposition to you?

A.—I did not.

Q.—Why did you not bring the matter before the house of representatives the next day, if Waters attempted to bribe you to vote for any particular candidate?

A.—Waters being a friend and relative of the family, I had no disposition to bring either him or myself into such repute.

Q.—Then what motive had you in making it public at this late day?

A.—I make it public now because I have been summoned here as a witness and am under oath.

Q.—Do you know how you come to be summoned as a witness?

A.—I do not.

Q—Did you never tell any one of the conversation at your house with your wife's uncle?

A.—I have.

Q.—To whom?

A.—I told it to-day in this room to the committee.

Q.—Did you tell it to no one else before that time?

A.—I did, to A. B. Crossman. I think it was last Saturday.

Q.—How came you to tell it to Mr. Crossman?

A.—Simply because I wanted him to know it.

Q.—Did you tell any one else.

A.—I told Mrs. Gilbert on the evening the conversation occurred. I told no one else.

Q.—Haven't you been active in the opposition to Mitchell, and don't you desire very much his defeat?

A.—I have and I do.

Q.—Didn't you prior to your election, assure Mitchell's friends in this county that you were not pledged against him and would go into caucus and abide by it if you were elected?

A.—To first question, yes; to second, no.

Q.—Haven't you since your election stated to C. A. Reed, of Salem, and other republicans that you would go into caucus and abide by the result?

A.—I have not.

Q—Did you tell Mr. Crossman of this conversation with your wife's uncle at your house for the purpose of making it public?

A.—I did not.

Q. State then for what purpose you told Crossman of this conversation with your wife's uncle.

A.—Simply as a piece of news and for his own information.

Q. State why you told Mrs. Gilbert.

A. She inquired what Waters' business was.

Q. State if Mrs. Gilbert felt indignant that such proposition should be made to her husband and what she advised you in the premises.

A. She did feel indignant, and advised that I vote against J. H. Mitchell to the end of the session.

Q. You have kept her advice conscientiously so far?

A member of the committee objected to being made a tool of by any lawyer, so the matter was dropped here.

Gilbert remarked, so far as any information he possessed, he was ready to answer, but he declined to have his family drawn into the business.

Mr. Mitchell concluded, and the last few questions were struck out.

Q. State whether Senator Waters, in the conversation you have recited, that he had with you on the evening of the 26th of September last, stated that he was authorized by Senator Mitchell, or by any other person, to offer you $2500 and the Salem postoffice for your own and other members' support.

A.—He made it very plain to my mind that he was acting for Mitchell.

Q. Did you communicate to the committee the [illegible] the substance of this conversation with [illegible] of your own accord or did you [illegible] Waters [illegible] committee.

A.—I was invited [illegible] [illegible] I had [illegible] to make [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] statement to make [illegible] from the room [illegible] hall. A [illegible] [illegible] before the committee [illegible] Forthwith [illegible] statement.

Q. Who invited you to come before the committee prior to your being summoned to do so?

A.—I can't remember the person; I am of the impression it was one of the committee.

Q. Have you related in your testimony the whole of the conversation that you had with your wife's uncle on the evening of the 26th of September?

A. I have not.

Q. Please state what you have omitted to state in your testimony of that conversation?

A. In direct connection I stated that this offer was made for my support and for the support of other members. The other members referred to by Waters were some of the Polk co. delegation. Mention was made of the names of members of the Polk county delegation who were supposed to be approachable on the subject, Mr. Truitt and Mr. Lee. Waters further stated that at that particular time Mitchell needed two or three votes to make his election sure. Waters further stated that this offer of money was on his own account and that he could afford to give it from the salary of an office that he expected to receive?

Q. Did Waters intimate that Senator Lee and Representative Truitt, of Polk county, could be bought?

A.—He did not.

Q.—Why did you not state what you have just stated now in your direct examination?

A. It is difficult to recall all the conversation at one time.

REDIRECT EXAMINATION BY [illegible].

Q—At the interview of Senator Waters at your house on the 26th ult. did he intimate to you for whom he desired your support and that of these other members referred to?

A.—He did; for Hon. J. H. Mitchell.

Q.—Did Waters at this same conversation indicate to you what office he expected to get which would justify him in making the liberal offer to you that he did.

A.—Waters did not tell me what office he expected to receive at that interview.

Q—Did you learn at any time from Waters what office he expected to get which he referred to.

A.—In a conversation at Portland I understood from Waters that in the event of the election of Mitchell he was to be U. S. marshal.

Q. by Knight—Did Waters tell you that Mitchell had promised him that office, or that he merely expected it.

A—In the conversation to which I referred at Portland Waters gave me to understand that he was to be U. S. marshal in the event of Mitchell's election. Waters did not state in so many words that Mitchell had promised him the office.

Q. by Jamison—In your direct examination you state that Waters told you that it was on his own account that he made the offer of $2500 to you for supporting Mitchell. Did he indicate in that statement or at that time by what authority he made you the offer of the Salem postoffice.

A—He did not; he said I could have the postoffice on next Monday.

Q. by Jamison—When you communicated this conversation with Waters at your home to Mr. Crossman, did you make any indication to him at that time that you wished him to keep this communication private.

A—I did so indicate.

Q—When you made the same communication to Mrs. Gilbert did you also indicate to her that you wished her to keep it private?

A.—I did not.

Q—Is Waters your wife's uncle, or is he not?

A—Waters' sister married my wife's uncle. The committee may figure out the relationship.

Mr. Gilbert here said, "in the conversation in regard to the gentleman from Polk county, they were expected to be controlled by my vote and by no other means."

Here prosecution rest.

SENATOR A. W. WATERS

Called and sworn:

My name is A. W. Waters; age 47 years; residence Portland; am senator from Multnomah county; am acquainted with A. N. Gilbert and heard his testimony as to the conversation on the evening of the 26th of Sept.

Q—State whether he related that conversation truthful or not. If not, state fully all that transpired between you and him on that occasion, if you had any conversation with him at that time at all.

A—I heard his testimony. He did not state it truthfully. Now if I have to go back to give a full statement I shall have to go back to a previous conversation, on or about the 24th of September. I incidentally fell in with Mr. Gilbert, and we had a conversation about the senatorial contest. He told me that he had no objection to Mitchell, but he did object to the men he kept in office. I informed him that I was aware that he objected to the present Salem postmaster. I told him that I was satisfied that if Marion county supported Mitchell, and that if Mitchell was elected, they (the Marion county delegation) could control that postoffice; that Capt. Scott, the postmaster, had informed me that he would resign next Monday if necessary. After some further conversation, the exact purport of which I cannot at this moment recall, Gilbert said: "Let it stand for the present, and I will think about it. We then separated, and about two days afterwards I sent him the note he spoke of in his examination. The first thing I said to him at his own residence I asked what he had concluded on. He informed me that he did not believe there could be a vote got from Marion county. I then told him that if he could induce the Polk county delegation to vote for Mitchell I had no doubt but that the Marion county delegation could control the postoffice. I never offered a cent of money, either for himself or any one else. When I got up to leave he called me back. Said he, "By the way, how is Mr. Moody? If we go into this thing we may want something from him." I told him I believed that Governor Moody was a friend of Mitchell, and that I had no doubt that we could make satisfactory arrangements with him. He did not tell me what he wanted from Moody. I believe that is all I remember.

Q—Mitchell did not authorize you to see Gilbert and make any proposition to him about the Salem postoffice, did he?

A.—He did not.

Whatever you said to Gilbert at the time mentioned or at any other time, was said upon your own motive and upon your own responsibility, was it?

A—It was.

Q—Did you in that conversation at his residence tell Gilbert that he could have the Salem postoffice if he voted for Mitchell?

A—I did not.

Q—Did you in that conversation offer him $2500 if he would vote for Mitchell for U. S. senator, or if he would use his influence to induce any other member to vote for Mitchell?

A—I did not.

Q—Did you have any conversation with Gilbert in Portland about the senatorship?

A—I did a few days after the election.

Q.—Did you in any conversation you had with Gilbert in Portland tell him that if Mitchell was elected senator you expected to be appointed U. S. marshal for Oregon?

A.—I may have told him so; if I did, I don't remember it now.

Q.—Now you may state whether Mitchell ever promised you the office of marshal or any other office if he was elected U. S. senator.

A.—He never did.

Q.—You are like many other citizens then who expect promotion or office?

A.—I don't differ materially from the average human.

Q.—State whether Mitchell ever authorized you to offer money, office, or any other consideration to any member of the legislature or any other person to secure a vote for him for U. S. senator.

A.—He never did.

At 11 o'clock the committee adjourned, postponing the cross-examination of Waters till to-morrow.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A monument has been erected at Batavia, N. Y., "to the memory of Captain William Morgan, exposer of the secrets of masonry." Any man who can do so little and from it get credit for so much, deserves a monument commensurate with his extraordinary ability.

A good sized soldier is seldom seen in France. The ranks of the army show wiry, enduring men, but they do not look so splendid as the German soldiers or the heavy dragoons of Queen Victoria's service. There are many peasant soldiers in Paris, and they are particularly small men.

A Canadian paper is responsible for the story that in 1812 an English gunboat on Lake Ontario intercepted and sunk, near Eight-mile point, an American vessel with $1,500,000 which was to have been used in paying soldiers stationed around the lake. This is probably another "Kidd."

A Chinaman is said to have inscribed upon one grain of unhulled rice an original poem, containing thirty-three distinct and well-formed Chinese characters written out in full. The curiosity is kept under a magnifying glass in a silver locket, and is considered one of the wonders of the world.

A Wyoming county postmaster put up a bulletin the other day reading: "Hereafter this postoffice will be open from 1 P. M. until 3 P. M. All persons requiring any further accommodations will confer a favor upon the postmaster by either getting their mail at some other office or taking measures to have the postmaster removed."

Mr. Clarence Cook, in his very recent book, "Architecture in America," has made some sweeping criticisms on the palaces of the Vanderbilts. It seems to be quite the fashion to ridicule these magnificent residences. Yet an invitation to a reception in either of them would probably induce these malcontents to be more lenient in their censure.

A Massachusetts advocate of total abstinence, B. B. Faxon by name, is peculiar in being willing to spend money for his cause. Whenever he deems the time auspicious he buys a page of advertising space in a Boston paper and fills it with whatever he desires to say to the public. In that way he has recently published the record of every state legislator on the liquor question.

The possibilities in the line of economy are shown by the members of a family in Georgetown, Madison county, N. Y. Nineteen years ago they purchased a paper of pins. OREGON LEGISLATURE.

Senate.

SALEM, Sept. 30.

The Senate was called to order at 2 o'clock by the president, all members present.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Berry, of the Presbyterian church.

The journal of yesterday was read and approved.

The discussion of S. B. 30, to regulate the practice of medicine and surgery in the state of Oregon, was resumed.

Davenport moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed; lost.

Starkweather moved that the bill be referred to a special committee of three for amendments; lost.

The bill then passed 17 to 10.

Lee, from the committee on enrolled bills, reported S. B. 25, S. B. 71 and S. B. 82, as correctly enrolled.

The president appointed Lee and Myers of the senate, for the joint committee on enrolled bills.

Committee on judiciary returned S. B. 6, for the protection of fish and game, recommending that it pass with certain amendments. The amendments were severally adopted and the bill ordered engrossed for a third reading.

From the same committee, S. B. 19, to empower the governor to grant pardons in certain cases and to declare the effect of the same, recommending that it do pass. The bill was ordered engrossed for a third reading.

From the same committee, S. B. 23, to change the time of the meeting of the legislature of Oregon, recommending that it pass.

Pending a lengthy discussion of this bill, the hour of 12 having arrived, the senate adjourned to the hall of the house to vote for United States senator.

MONDAY, Oct. 2.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment, President McConnell in the chair.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Hines. All the members were present. The journal of Saturday was read and approved.

A message received from the house announced that the house had adopted H. C. R. 17, calling for a joint committee to estimate the mileage of the members of the legislature. Senate concurred. The president appointed on this committee Colvig and Wright from the senate.

Discussion of S. B. 23, to change the time of the meeting of the legislature, was resumed.

On motion the rules were suspended and the bill ordered engrossed and placed on its final passage; passed.

Judiciary committee returned S. B. 20, and recommended that it pass with certain amendments. The amendments were severally adopted. Pending a discussion of this bill, the hour of twelve having arrived, the senate adjourned to the hall of the house to vote for U. S. senator.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The senate was called to order by President McConnell at two o'clock. All present.

Discussion of S. B. 26 was resumed, pending which the senate had adjourned.

Ex-Congressman Lane was invited to a seat within the bar.

The bill was ordered engrossed for a third reading to-morrow.

The president added Humphrey on joint committee on enrolled business.

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE REPORT.

S. B. 27 was reported favorably and ordered engrossed for a third reading to-morrow.

S. B. 42, to regulate salaries of county judges, was reported favorably, with recommendation that it pass.

On motion of Simon the bill was ordered engrossed for a third reading to-morrow.

S. B. 43, to transfer proceedings from the county court to the circuit court in certain cases, was reported with recommendation that it pass with a slight amendment. The amendment was adopted, and on motion of Simon the bill was ordered engrossed for third reading to-morrow.

On motion of Pennington, S. B. 9 of 1880, for the relief of Umatilla county, which was vetoed by Gov. Thayer, was taken up and passed unanimously.

Ex-Senator J. K. Kelly was invited to a seat within the bar.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

S. B. 99, Bilyeu—To amend corporation laws of city of Albany. Read first and second time by title under suspension of rules. Referred to special committee composed of the senators from Linn county.

House.

House met at 11 A. M.

Opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Nesbet.

Journal read and approved.

Message received from the senate notifying house of appointment of Lee and Myers as part of joint committee on enrolled bills.

Speaker announced that there was a report on the desk from the special committee appointed to investigate the charge of attempted bribery.

A motion was made to suspend rules and receive the report of committee; the motion was lost.

The remainder of the morning hour up to 12 M. was taken up in a discussion as to what action should be taken with the report.

JOINT CONVENTION.

Senate entered. Rolls were called, all being present.

Proceeded to sixteenth ballot, as follows: Mitchell 41; Shattuck 29; Richard Williams 6; Failing 14.

Dr. Plummer, when his name was called, said he regretted he was peculiarly circumstanced; that he was one of the committee on investigation of charge of bribery, that that committee had reported, and the report entirely exonerated Mitchell, but that he (Plummer) had long ago concluded that he would only follow a certain course for a certain length of time; that he had voted for Mitchell so far because he conceived it his duty as a republican to do so, but the time had now come when he thought he should change, and he accordingly voted for Richard Williams.

On motion of Myers adjourned. Senate retiring. House adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

House reassembled at 2.

Message from the senate transmitting the following senate bills and notifying the house of their passage:

S. B. 3—Licensing public shows; it was read first and second times and referred to committee on counties.

S. B. 4—Preventing spread of Canada thistles; read first time.

S. B. 33—Relating to obnoxious weeds; read first time.

Dr. Plummer rose to a question of privilege, asking to be excused from serving on the investigating committee. He was excused and the speaker appointed Marquam to serve in his place.

Stewart, from the committee on engrossed bills, reported H. B. 133 as correctly engrossed; it was read a third time and passed.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Mr. Tanner, from the judiciary committee, reported H. B. 9, with the recommendation that the bill do not pass.

On motion of Mr. Morris further consideration of the bill was indefinitely postponed.

Also on H. B. 14, recommending that the bill do not pass; adopted. Ordered considered engrossed and read third time to-morrow.

Also H. B. 21, relating to ferry license, with amendments and recommending that the bill do pass as amended; bill was recommitted to Multnomah delegation.

Also H. B. 25, amending miscellaneous laws, reported back with amendments and recommending passage as amended; adopted and ordered engrossed and placed on third reading.

Also H. B. 27—Recommending it do not pass; adopted.

Also H. B. 31—In relation to suits in equity recommending it do pass; adopted, considered engrossed and placed on third reading.

Also H. B. 53—Collection of damages by railroad, recommending do not pass; adopted; bill withdrawn.

Also H. B. 41—Providing for district attorneys in each county, with amendments; report adopted; engrossed for third reading.

Truitt asked leave to be excused from duty on the investigating committee on account of sickness; excused.

H. B. 45—Reported recommending passage; considered engrossed for third reading.

Also H. B. 48—With amendments; adopted; engrossed and placed on third reading.

H. B. 52—Recommending passage; adopted; engrossed and placed on third reading.

H. B. 51—Recommending passage; adopted; engrossed and placed on third reading.

The speaker appointed on the investigating committee, vice Truitt, Patterson, of Polk. Adjourned.

SET BACK 42 YEARS.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, gravel, etc.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of 30, although I am 72, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial. (Father.)"—Sunday Mercury.

ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

A Senator from Marion on the "Spectacle" at Salem.

A PUNGENT AND SCATHING REVIEW.

J. H. Mitchell as a Candidate, and the Gross Indecency of his Endeavor to Force Himself into the United States Senate.

The whole scheme of republican government rests upon the principle of popular representation for the great and declared purpose of establishing justice and promoting the general welfare. Consequently the people are represented everywhere, and in all of the departments of the government they have adopted. The spheres of the several departments are plainly marked out, and the duties of the various officers prescribed. No officer in the state, though he be high or low in the scale of gradation, is expected or allowed to be governed by motives of mere self interest, or to be influenced by the selfish appeals of individuals. He is to follow devotedly the spirit and letter of his legal instructions, and know no other good but the public good. Fear, favor and the hope of reward are words not to be found in the vocabulary of the faithful public servant, except to be condemned.

And in order to remove the people's servants as far as possible from debauching and corrupting influences, laws have been enacted providing for the punishment of intimidation and bribery. This is no fancy sketch; it should not be merely a string of glittering generalities, for though a monarchy may stand upon the principle of devotion to the ruler, who may confer or withhold favors as a means of government, yet a republican government must stand upon the other basis, or it cannot stand at all.

The foregoing reflections upon our representative system have arisen in consequence of the spectacle presented here in Salem, during the present session of the legislative assembly. And it is profitable to compare said spectacle with the model set up by the people in their plan of government.

Mr. Mitchell is a candidate for election to the United States senate, and he must, to reach the goal which is the object of his ambition, be elected by a majority of the members of the legislative assembly when assembled.

Recollect, the members are not there as mere partisans but as representatives of the people, without regard to party. Every one is sworn to support the constitution of the state and of the United States, and faithfully discharge the duties of his office. No one would dare intimate that a legislator could rightfully intrude any desire of his own, any mandate of his party, or any wish of his friend or family that would be derogatory to the interests of the state and people or subversive of the oath he has taken. I repeat that he has, if true to his trust, sunk the partisan in the patriot and cannot properly put the obligations to his party before and above the obligations to his country.

He cannot consistently enter a party caucus which decrees, under any circumstances, extinction of his representative character.

To assert the reverse of this is to say that the oath he has taken is an idle and meaningless formality, and destroys the whole fabric of the government we have essayed to establish.

Neither can the legislator's representative character be held in abeyance when performing any act devolved upon him by the constitution and laws.

The act of electing a United States senator is no exception to this golden rule of representative government. Every question affecting the honor, integrity and happiness of the whole people of the United States is involved. It is therefore the highest and by its importance the most sacred trust.

It has been so considered by the greatest and best of our statesmen and patriots. And if it be the highest and most sacred trust, it should be performed under the highest sense of duty. In what other spirit should we approach questions of paramount importance to the whole people?

If any political party has rules or discipline inconsistent with this duty, said rules and discipline should be reformed so as to harmonize with it; and any political party that cannot accept the truly republican doctrine that every man's supreme allegiance is to his country and that parties are only auxiliar to the general welfare, should suffer that extinction which it would decree to the representatives of the people.

Charles Sumner, whose name is a sufficient eulogy, had so high a sense of the function of the people's representatives and such punctilious regard for the "supremest moment" of their official existence, the election of a United States senator, that he was wont to leave the capital of the old commonwealth of Massachusetts during the senatorial election, when it was likely he would be voted for, and travel abroad, so that the election would proceed without the effect of his personal presence.

Abraham Lincoln was equally appreciative, and it is not said that Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Seward or Benton ever introduced into that question the baser elements of human nature, or employed the baser tactics of destroying the representative character of the legislature.

To return to Mr. Mitchell, let us see how he proceeds in what he terms his "senatorial fight."

Unlike Charles Sumner, he comes to the state capital. He brings with him the federal office holders in the state. Here also congregate in his interest, not only members of the republican party but members of the democratic party, from all parts of the state and the adjoining territory. Each man comes here, not to confer as to what the public wants, and the general welfare demands, but he comes here to advance his own personal private interests; to keep an office if he have one, to get an office if he have none. In the short and suggestive phrase of Hubert Spencer they are here "to increase their income."

As a consequence, they could not possible be here, animated by such desires, without affecting prejudicially the choice of the legislative assembly. As it is, this selfish body of personal adherents, by helping or hindering the passage of laws, by the promise of offices and money for votes to elect their master, constitute at present the most serious menace to the perpetuity of republican institutions.

Is any thoughtful person in the state or one who has the faintest conceptions of public duty, or the feeblest tremor of patriotic impulse, willing that such a state of things should exist, in order to assist the election of any man to the United States senate?

Are the good people of this state without regard to party, willing to see all the varied interests of the state and nation, put up as bribes to elect any man to the senate?

Are the republicans of the state, those who organized the party upon solid and enduring principles, willing to follow and endorse such absurd and suicidal practices?

Are the fathers and mothers in this industrious and moral commonwealth, willing that their children should see that the road to high station and honors is through such dark and tortuous ways and such sloughs of moral despond?

If not, then lobbies of senatorial aspirants must be remanded to their homes and offices, or at least declare that they shall be composed of persons who understand and fully appreciate the force of their legal and moral obligations.

If not, then the senatorial aspirants must be made to understand that their presence in the capitol or lobby is an impropriety which will not be tolerated by an intelligent people.

And further: let every representative of the people firmly resolve never to cast a vote for any man who cannot be content to allow the election of United States senator to proceed according to the intent of the constitution and without fear, improper influence or molestation from any one.

PRIVATE CHARACTER AND PUBLIC CAREERS.

A great English writer, in a discourse on one of the most celebrated persons in English political history, has set forth with great acuteness and force the necessity of high personal and private character in political and public life. The views of this writer are especially worthy of attention as a crushing reply to those who assert that the public have nothing to do with the private life of the man who presents himself for positions of public trust. "How did it come to pass," asks this writer, "that the most eloquent of our countrymen, a man of widest variety of gifts, and with talents of the highest order, had no real influence on the national mind, or on the government? The answer is perfectly obvious, and forms a serious admonition to all politicians. He failed, plainly because the people placed no confidence in his virtue, or, in other words, because they never would be persuaded to attribute virtue to his character. By a law as deep in human nature as any of its principles of distinction between good and evil, it is impossible to give respect and confidence to a man who has in a flagrant way disregarded some of the primary ordinances of morality. Those who held Fox's opinions were almost sorry he should have held them, while they saw with what exultation and success they who rejected them could cite his moral reputation to invalidate them. It has been said that a man may maintain nice principles of integrity in the prosecution of public affairs, though his conscience and practice are very defective in matters of private morality. But this never would be believed, even if it were true, and the universal conviction of mankind rejects it, when it is attempted, in practical cases, to be made the foundation of public character. So far is this from being believed that even a conspicuous and complete reformation of private morals is still unsatisfactory for public virtue; and a very long probation of public character is indispensable as a kind of quarantine for a man once deeply contaminated to undergo, in order to engage any real confidence in the integrity of his public conduct; nor can he ever engage it in the same degree as if an uniform and resolute virtue had marked his private conduct from the beginning. It is contrary to human belief that the virtues of the statesman can flourish in spite of the vices of the man."

So wrote John Foster of Charles James Fox. If a man of Fox's unrivalled talents could not sustain a public career against the vices of his private life, how are smaller men—men who in comparison with him are only as the feeblest candle to the insufferable sunlight—to obtain public respect and hold public confidence in the face of gross immoralities of private character? The thing is absolutely impossible, and will forever be so. And necessarily; for were it otherwise all distinctions of good and evil, with approbation of the one and detestation of the other, would be confounded and lost, and in the state of things that would ensue society would lose utterly the first principles necessary to its moral progress, and consequently to its preservation. We have a right, then, and it is a duty too, to examine the private character of men who present themselves for public station. In the estimation of some, great talents may indeed partially redeem the vices or crimes of private life; but even this is an untenable position, as all experience shows. Morality may be derided, but it will assert its sway; and Charles James Fox was overwhelmingly answered by men who, without being able to utter a word in reply to the matchless debater, could refute and overthrow him by simply reminding the nation of the notorious faults, immoralities and vices of his private life.

When great talents are wanting and only vices of character are conspicuous, the case is one that has no feature which even partially redeems it. By just so much more as the man is supported by those who ignore his moral delinquencies and bring to bear the resources of intrigue, cunning, deceit, unscrupulousness and fraud, to supply the want of moral strength, by just so much do the man and his cause become weak in general estimation. Moral forces are the only invincible forces in the universe. They may be temporarily circumvented, but there is in them, happily for mankind, an everlasting principle of recovery. They will not be ignored or juggled with; still less will they be argued out of their position—and the argument for morality is invincible even in weakest hands.

We have said enough to indicate why a notorious character now before the people of our state, in spite of all his resources in craft, and all the forces which can be brought to bear through unscrupulous political skill, including the use of large sums of money, the pressure of interested parties, the lavish promise of offices and all the various incentives to selfish personal effort which the political jobber knows so well how to bring to bear, is nevertheless hopelessly weak with the people. Never was he so weak with them as now. The vote he has received in the legislature is no indication whatever of his standing in public estimation. But even by members who have been voting for him the weakness of his position is keenly appreciated. There is behind him no moral support. These invisible yet most powerful element of strength are wanting, and his failure is due not only to their absence from alliance with his effort, but to their active enlistment in the contest against him. He may not know this; he may never be able to appreciate it, but the fact remains that the opposition which he finds so resolute and invincible rests not upon personal grounds but on considerations of private, public and political morality. Resting there it never can be overcome.

SENATOR DAVENPORT'S LETTER.

Senator Davenport's letter, in the form of an address to the people of Oregon, which we publish to-day, is timely in appearance as it is excellent in tone and sentiment. It voices the judgment of the people upon the "spectacle" presented at their capital during the last three weeks—the spectacle of shameless pursuit of official place by one who has rejected every consideration of propriety and decency, and who is endeavoring, by all the means he can bring within his reach, to lay hands upon a trust which it is the right of the people's representatives to confer according to their views of the public interests and of their own official duty. Here is a great public trust. Is anything under heaven more utterly despicable than the conduct of the man who strives to seize it, to filch it, because he wants to enjoy its honors, or possess the power it carries with it, for his own selfish objects? Rightly too is public attention directed to the means and influences employed to push this utterly base and degrading attempt. Mitchell's lobby, "working" for him from motives of personal interest, want to usurp the functions of the representatives of the people. Mr. Davenport does himself great honor, and at the same time vindicates the course of himself and associates by this address. What he says about caucus is worthy of the high-minded and conscientious representative who has received a public trust and taken an obligation to discharge it. He and his associates have refused to obey the dictation of caucus, because its mandate would decree, and was intended to decree, the extinction of their representative character. In the position they have taken, as stated in this address, they occupy an unassailable position. If the selfish seeker for the state's highest trust, whose attempt has been made and pursued in the spirit and with the tactics of the highway robber, were not insensible to the shame of flagrant improprieties of conduct, he would take a view of himself in the mirror which Mr. Davenport has held up for the public to see him in, and retire from public sight with the least possible delay.

WATERS AS A BRIBER.

A. W. Waters, senator from Multnomah county, is particularly anxious to regain the office of United States marshal. In consequence he wants J. H. Mitchell elected. In his zeal in this behalf Waters a few days ago offered Representative Gilbert of Marion county $2500 and the Salem postoffice to vote for Mitchell. We have the whole story in our dispatches this morning. Of course no one can entertain a doubt of the truth of Gilbert's statement. Waters' attempt is in accord with the morality of the whole Mitchell movement. Surely there are respectable men yet voting for Mitchell who must by this time see the disgraceful and criminal nature of the attempt to elect him, and who must therefore abandon it. Waters is only one of many participants in this desperate villainy. If disgrace could reach him he would be consigned to infamy by this disclosure. But he is simply one of many who have all their hopes staked upon the effort to elect the boss jobber in offices and spoils. The promise of the Salem postoffice is in perfect harmony with Mitchell's characteristic methods. No doubt the postoffice would have been delivered, had Mr. Gilbert been found corruptible, as readily as the $2500. Are not the people surfeited with these sickening revelations? It is time for them to go to the capital and scourge these corruptionists from it. The time is approaching when Mitchell must be abandoned by every man of self-respect and honest purposes. Men with a proper sense of honor will find it impossible to co-operate in an undertaking in which they see the most infamous and criminal means employed and habitually relied on. As for Mr. Waters he will probably get into the penitentiary before he obtains the United States marshalship again.

LAND SURVEYS.

It is probable that the compensation formerly allowed for surveying the public lands afforded in many instances too large a margin of profit. The regulations also may have left ways open for the perpetration of fraud. There were many scandals from year to year, which at last brought about revision and change of the laws relating to this subject; but the reduction of the compensation allowed has been too sweeping, and in consequence the public surveys cannot be extended in localities where the public convenience loudly demands it. If a surveyor obtains a contract in open and easy country, he can do fairly well at the rates now allowed; but he cannot afford to take a contract in a district covered with timber and undergrowth. Most lands now to be surveyed have been avoided hitherto by surveyors, even when much higher prices than those now allowed were paid. These lands, lying along the coast or the foot hills of our mountain ranges, are now rapidly settling up, and extension of the public surveys in these places is much wanted. But before they can be surveyed larger compensation must be allowed. For surveying this class of lands the law should allow at least fifty per cent more than present rates. This is a matter of great importance to many localities in Oregon and Washington. It ought to receive the attention of our delegation in congress.

In the October Century Mr. Frank B. Carpenter tells the story of "How Lincoln was Nominated," and the editor enlivens the article with two portraits of Lincoln, both memorable on account of the circumstances under which they were taken. Mr. Carpenter's story is that of the action of the Pennsylvania delegation at the Chicago convention, and what he says ought to be correct, for he had ample opportunities for knowing the truth. He gives nearly all the credit of bringing the delegation to the support of Lincoln on the second ballot to Newton Pettis, one of its members, who labored long and earnestly, first to get the minority to agree to vote for Simon Cameron on the first ballot, and, second, to get the majority to agree to abandon Cameron after the first ballot. He denies that there was any bargaining about the matter at all, and his circumstantial narrative, if allowed to stand, precludes the possibility of such bargaining. He apparently believes that if the convention had not accepted the invitation for that steamboat excursion on Lake Michigan on that Thursday afternoon, and had proceeded to ballot instead, Seward would have been nominated beyond a doubt. The delay enabled the Pennsylvanians to adjust their internal differences and to act as they did when the time for balloting came on Friday.

President Arthur, in assuming to "boss" the republican party of New York, has taken on his hands a job which is giving serious trouble. Interference of the administration defeated Cornell, who was the popular choice, and nominated Folger, President Arthur's secretary of the treasury. It is now loudly charged that Folger's nomination was brought about by fraudulent methods, in which forgery and other crimes are included. Moreover, the interference of the administration, by which the choice of the republicans of the state has been frustrated, is widely denounced, and the signs are that Folger will be compelled to withdraw or suffer overwhelming defeat. Here is another lesson of the consequences of machine politics.

It now looks as if all the influences that the boss office-seeker ever could employ had been brought to bear and exhausted; that he has done all he ever can do; that he has moved all the men he can move, and that he will lose rather than gain in the balloting now to follow. His only hope has long been placed in the democratic members, and the chances of his getting any more of them appear more remote day by day.

There is a mass of stuff and twaddle in Knight's cross-examination of Gilbert on the Waters' bribery affair which was thrown in expressly for the purpose of obscuring the plain facts of the case. But it didn't obscure them. All the irrelevant questions on trifling matters do not affect the fact that Waters went to Gilbert's house and offered him a bribe to vote for the man whom Waters is trying to elect.

The action of Dr. Plummer, who, having hitherto voted for Mitchell, yesterday decided to change, is an example to be commended. In acting according to his independent convictions of duty he will be sustained by public opinion. Others who may see their way clear to follow their convictions to a like conclusion will likewise be commended and sustained.

Of course no one supposes that the Salem postoffice is the only office on the auction block at Salem. Every federal position in the state is in the pool to swell the corruption fund of the dispenser of offices and jobber in spoils, who has only to be elected to carry out the promises made to elect him.

Hon. Ben Simpson, after toiling three weeks in the postal service at the rooms of the boss in Salem, returned to the city last evening. Those who have seen him judge from his looks that the postal service there is in a truly bad way.

The eighteen are receiving a support from public opinion in all parts of the state that confirms them in the stand they have taken against an unworthy candidate and the efforts of bossism.

Who is the coming man? Who is the great unknown?

THE DISCARDED BOSS.

NO POSSIBLE HOPE OF HIS ELECTION.

A Day of Sensations at the Capitol—Dr. Plummer Tired of Mitchell—State Senator Waters in a New Light.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

SALEM, Oct. 2, midnight.—This has been an eventful day. The first public sensation was Dr. Plummer's change from Mitchell when his name was reached toward the end of the roll call. He rose and said that it had been his purpose at first to support the caucus nominee to a certain point. He had done so and thought now that point had been reached. He was, he said, in an embarrassing situation owing to his position on the investigating committee. The report of the committee, not yet read, would exonerate Mitchell from any relation to the Nichols-Ford affair and it had no effect to change his vote. He changed in the line of purpose formed before the investigation was thought of. "And now," he said, "with good feeling toward all, ill will toward none, I cast my vote for Hon. Richard Williams."

Plummer has been applauded on all sides for his manly action and the manly way in which he did it. The Mitchell strikers of course are angry, but their wrath goes for naught. From Portland and elsewhere Dr. Plummer has received messages of congratulation and approval. His vote fell like a wet blanket on the already waning hopes of the Mitchell men. They tried to look unconcerned, but dejection was evident and, with the aid of a partisan ruling on the part of the president, they forced an adjournment without taking a second ballot.

The second sensation was the exposure of Senator Waters' effort to corrupt Hon. A. N. Gilbert. Gilbert, under compulsion, made an informal statement to the committee this morning, but the story was not known except by half a dozen till it came out in the public session of the committee to-night. The telegraphic report gives it in full just as it came from his lips. Gilbert is a merchant of this city, of long residence and good standing, and his word is as good as his bond. No man who knows him will for a moment doubt the truthfulness of what he says. Waters' denial is looked upon as the bravado front of a desperate man. His evidence corroborates that of Gilbert except in the main point, and upon that he had to decide between denial and the penitentiary. The telegraphed report gives his statement in full. It is expected that the senate will further examine the charges, and the result will certainly be his expulsion. A criminal charge will also, it is said, be preferred against him.

The part of the so-called Col. Knight in the investigation to-night was despicable. His cross-examination of Gilbert was a piece of business made contemptible by efforts to cast reproach upon the witness because of his exposure of his "wife's uncle." It was impossible to feel aught but profound contempt for the wretch who sought to wound in his deepest sensibilities a witness who was reluctantly giving evidence under compulsion of a summons.

Few now expect Mitchell's election. Such damning disclosures following the break in his ranks have practically put him out of the fight. He will, however, I think, get 39 or 40 votes to-morrow, as his following will hesitate to drop him without some concerted action. An effort will be made by him to name the man, and his crowd freely talk of M. C. George in that connection. The opposition, however, will not allow Mitchell to name the man and will refuse, I think, to go into caucus on any terms. The situation is so full of possibilities that any estimate of the outcome would have only the basis of a guess.

WASCO DEMOCRATS.

They Request Mr. Gates to Leave Bad Company and Act with his Party.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

THE DALLES, Oct. 2.—A petition, signed by over forty democrats, of the following import, was sent to Hon. N. H. Gates, state senator for Wasco and Lake counties:

"We the undersigned would most respectfully represent and petition that if all the democratic members of the legislature will stand by and vote for any fair-minded democrat he will be elected United States senator.

"That we consider it against the principles of democracy for democrats to vote for any republican for United States senator, and especially so under the present circumstances.

"We would therefore petition you to act in accordance with the views above expressed."

This was signed by nearly every democrat to whom it was presented.

FOR SALE.
A NUMBER OF BLOCKS AND LOTS IN ALbina, lying East and west of the north extension of Fourth St., East Portland, otherwise known as the Vancouver road. This road is to be immediately graded and macadamized, congress having granted $6000 for the purpose of making it a military road and facilitating communication between Vancouver and Portland. This work when completed will make Fourth street the finest boulevard in Oregon. The lots for sale are on high, level ground. The prices range from $250 to $800 per lot. They are all extra-sized lots. The terms are one-third cash; the balance on one and two years, with interest at 8 per cent. The real estate market offers no better or safer investment or speculation than the above. J. FRED CLARK & CO.,

Sellwood.
A Beautiful Suburban Town on the East Shore of the Willamette.
The Best Opportunity of the Time for a Home.

The streets and avenues of this beautiful site are being rapidly cleared, and lots and blocks are now ready for sale.

Its Advantages to Residents

Are rapid and direct ferry communication with the city, almost level and easily cleared ground, good soil, and the facility for furnishing pure water.

The Steam Ferry

Which the Company guarantees for two years, will, in a pleasant ride of twenty minutes, land you where you can buy a lot for one-tenth the sum asked for one in twenty minutes' walk from the business center of Portland; and in the spring, when the large and swift steamer for which the Company is negotiating is put on, the trip will be reduced to fifteen minutes each way, at the nominal fare of five cents.

Other Means of Access.

No other site near Portland has been improved so lavishly by its proprietors as Sellwood, for the convenience of purchasers and residents. Streets have been opened and cleared, and a plank road from the river to the railroad station at Willsburg is projected, and grading and planking of part of it has been ordered this year, connecting, by a ferry soon to be put on, with Fulton and the macadam road. This road will also cross the East Portland and Oregon City road, so that means of access by railroads, steamer and wagon roads will be unequaled.

Pure Spring Water.

As soon as a sufficient number of lots have been sold to justify it, the best of spring water will be brought through the town, the creek which crosses the eastern length of the site furnishing ample power for the purpose.

The Sellwood Ferry Guaranteed.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Sellwood Real Estate Co. held August 21, 1882, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Sellwood Real Estate Company hereby guarantee that they will keep a Ferry to ply [illegible] between the town of Sellwood and Portland, [illegible] for a period of two years, except when [illegible] temporarily suspended." [illegible] Secretary. [illegible] President.

EVIDENCE OF MURDER.

Coroner's Inquest over the Body Found in the River—Testimony of Employes of the "Queen."

[illegible] yesterday [illegible] the body of the man who was [illegible] last week [illegible] from ear to ear. The first witness sworn was [illegible] the purser of the Queen of the Pacific [illegible] first trip up. He testified [illegible] the check that was found upon the body, and [illegible] it was [illegible] these checks the day after the [illegible] San Francisco. [illegible] checks are [illegible] taken up before landing is made, but this is not always the case.

[illegible], a steward of the Queen, says that [illegible] before arriving at the [illegible] he was below in the [illegible] with [illegible] who were getting out the lines to [illegible]. Heard a splash on the port quarter [illegible] as if something fell overboard. We wash the decks every morning. This morning I saw what I take to be blood on the side of the ship.

Wm. [illegible], second steward of the Queen, testified [illegible] on the night of September 18th, between 10 and 11 o'clock, heard a noise in stateroom 52. A woman was lamenting the loss of her husband and said something about his being thrown overboard and [illegible] to quiet her. She said she was sure her husband had been flung overboard, for she saw blood on the port side of the ship and heard moans and a heavy splash. She afterward said a boy had found her husband. She persisted, however, in saying that [illegible] had gone by the port-hole of her stateroom.

Frank Noe, a waiter on the Queen, was night watchman in the saloon on the 18th; was attracted by a noise in room 52; went to the room and found a lady crying for her husband. She said something about him having plenty of money and being robbed and thrown overboard. She said she had been dozing when she was awakened by moans and a splash in the water. She saw blood stains on side of the ship, near the port hole, and showed them to me. She asked me to go and look for her husband, and I told her I would when I was relieved of my watch; saw her son, about 17 years old, and told him to go and look for his father; he started off. The lady came out into the saloon crying, and said she was sure it was her husband who had either fallen or been pushed overboard; she said she recognized the voice of the man who went by her port-hole as that of her husband. She asked several passengers to come into her room and see the blood spots, which they did. I think one of the passengers who accepted the invitation was Abe Blumenthal of this city.

Other evidence was educed showing beyond a doubt that murder had been committed, but publication of it might defeat the ends of justice, hence at the request of the coroner, it is withheld for the present.

The name of the murdered man was not learned by any of the testimony.

MESSRS. BRIGHAM & WEEKS,

Dealers in stoves, tinware, etc., 47 First street, make an exhibit of the celebrated Boynton furnaces. They occupy a space on the right side of the main hall, near the center. They display Boynton's wood and coal furnace, also the Boynton Yorkshire furnace for soft coal and wood. Boynton's salamander for hard and soft coal. This furnace has been favorably and extensively used for years and has proven to be the most substantial and reliable furnace ever sold for burning soft coal. The fire may be kept constantly burning by proper attention to the draft-regulator in the smoke pipe, a damper so simple, yet effective, that any person may manage it. Since Messrs. Brigham & Weeks have taken the agency for Oregon for these furnaces, it has almost been impossible for them to supply the demand. This fact is a higher recommend for them than anything we can say of them. Brigham & Weeks also have a very excellent stock of stoves, ranges, tinware, etc., which they would liked to have displayed at the fair had they not been so crowded with business. We noticed some very elegant ranges at their establishment which it will do well for those who wish to purchase to examine.

J. B. CONGLE & CO.,

The popular harness and saddle makers, make one of the most creditable displays in the fair. It is located in the gallery near the west end. It attracts great attention from all classes of visitors. They exhibit a very fine full quilted Lady Morgan side saddle; a full stamped Mexican saddle; a plain Cheyenne stock saddle; a very beautiful nickle plated double buggy harness; one fine nickle plated coach harness; two sets of single buggy harness and one set of the finest set of team harness we have ever seen. They also show some very elegant bridles and martingales and eastern made harness. The display, taken altogether, is one of the most handsome in the pavilion. The goods only represent in part of what one can see any day at their store.

P. MOORE'S PATENT GANG PLOW,

Which is on display in the east end of machinery hall, is the first gang plow ever constructed on the right principle. The plows are attached to the frame in front of the wheels instead of behind them, as all other gangs are made. The lever for raising and lowering is simple, strong and durable, and the whole construction of the plow shows the inventor possessed a practical knowledge of what was wanted. This plow will run with a fourth lighter draft than any ever made. Don't miss seeing it.

THE NEW YORK JEWELRY COMPANY'S

Display of genuine diamonds, elegant jewelry, fine watches, etc., still attracts the greatest share of attention. They make the most brilliant display of the fair and hundreds crowd around their handsomely fitted booth every hour of the evening viewing the many sparkling gems which shed a perfect blaze of light upon the scene. These elegant goods were selected at random from their magnificent stock at their beautifully fitted store, 107 First street, where they are doing a rapidly growing business.

SMITH'S PATENT SKYLIGHT

And scuttle elevator is exhibited by N. Haas, of Salem. His stand is on the south side of machinery hall. By a very simple device the skylight is elevated and swung off the opening. This is done by a lever with a cord attached; then by letting the cord loose the skylight will return to its position closed. It is manufactured by P. Lunding, Second street, between Stark and Oak.

BRIEF MENTION.

"The Magic Doll" at New Market to-morrow night.

The A. A. McCully resumes trips to the upper Willamette this morning.

No discount allowed on gas bills to-morrow (Wednesday). Pay to-day and save your dollar.

Frank Cleveland, aged 23 years, son of A. Cleveland, of Powell's valley, was taken to the insane asylum yesterday.

The Lurline will make special trips to the Mechanics' Fair Wednesday and Saturday, leaving Vancouver at 6 P. M.

There will be a regular meeting of Oregon Lodge of Perfection No. 1 at their council room, Masonic temple, this (Tuesday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

An effort is being made to introduce the concrete pipe for sub-irrigation, under-drainage, etc., manufactured by a Vancouver firm, into the sewerage of this city.

The charred buildings on the corner of Front and A streets, destroyed during the fire in that block recently, are being burned down, preparatory to the erection of new structures in a short time.

Charley Browne, of Fives' Engine Co., who had the bones of his right ankle badly broken during the B street fire some weeks ago, has finally been compelled to have that limb amputated just below the knee, to avoid more serious results. His condition is considerably improved since the operation.

THE LARGEST FLY-WHEEL.

New York World.

The largest fly-wheel of a stationary engine ever constructed in the United States was completed yesterday by Watts & Campbell, Newark, for Clark's Thread Works, in the same city. The wheel is built in seven sections, each weighing seven tons. It is twenty-five feet in diameter, and its "face" is seven feet six inches. It has three crowns on which three twenty-four inch belts run. The lathe was two weeks running night and day, in turning off the face of the monster wheel, and five tons of chips were planed from the surface. It took five minutes and fifty seconds for the wheel to make one revolution on the lathe. The total weight of the wheel is forty-nine tons.

The Clark Thread Works have recently made immense additions to their works, nearly doubling their capacity, to enable them to supply the demand for Clark's "O. N. T." Spool Cotton.

YESTERDAY'S BURN.

Four Frame Buildings Destroyed with a Loss of $9000—Several Serious Accidents.

Early yesterday morning a lively blaze was discovered in a wooden structure on the corner of North First and I streets, known as the California saloon building. The alarm was promptly given but before assistance had reached the scene of the fire the flames had made considerable headway, having caught in three neighboring frame buildings, all of which were soon consumed. Well-directed effort on the part of the firemen prevented a further spread of the fire, and saved a number of new buildings in the vicinity of those destroyed.

LOSSES AND INSURANCE.

The burnt buildings were all occupied as stores and were owned by Ambrose Bonnischbach, the cider manufacturer. His loss will probably amount to $[illegible]; insured in the Hamburg Bremen company for $[illegible].

The corner of North First and I streets was occupied by David Lundblat as the Scandinavian saloon. Loss about $[illegible]; insured $[illegible].

The next building on the south was formerly occupied by D. D. Lavin as the California saloon, but is owned by John Kelly. Loss $[illegible], insured for full amount.

James Taylor kept a stationery and news stand next to Kelly and rented part of his store to a person who ran what is called a "dollar racket." The loss of Taylor is several hundred dollars. No insurance. The "racket" is no loss and can well be dispensed with.

The National baths and barber shop was kept by Chas. Nelson, at 71 North First street. His loss will amount to $[illegible] and upward. Insured for full amount.

The Anchor saloon, kept by [illegible], was damaged to the extent of $[illegible]. Insured for full amount.

ACCIDENTS.

A heavy wooden awning in front of one of the buildings fell with a heavy crash and injured several men.

Walt Tracey, a longshoreman, was caught under the falling mass and had his right leg broken below the knee, and was otherwise injured. He was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where his injuries were dressed.

Phil. Holland, a ship carpenter, was struck by the awning and had his hand severely cut and his hip bruised.

Joe Townsend was badly crushed about the chest by falling wood work. He was taken home.

Chas. Waterman, a steamboat engineer, had his ankle sprained and both legs injured.

ENDED IN A DRAW.

PORTLAND, Oct. 2.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN.

If your report of the cricket match played on Saturday between the Portland cricket club and a team from the ships at present in the harbor is correct as to the score, "some one must have blundered," for instead of being a win for the tars as claimed, any one with a knowledge of the game will on looking at the figures at once pronounce the match a draw." I regret very much that the match was left undecided and that the plucky tars missed their opportunity of winning when the game was within their grasp.

BONANZA.

Something of a Pretty, Enterprising, Southern Oregon Town.

Located in a sheltered nook in the picturesque valley of the Lost river basin is the pleasant little village of Bonanza, about midway from east to west of Lake county and within a few miles of the California line. Surrounded as it is by rolling hills covered with a magnificent growth of bunch grass and [illegible], upon which numerous herds of cattle, sheep and horses feed and fatten, this pleasant little vale of productive soil and [illegible] climate is destined to become, at no remote day, a point of more than ordinary importance and attractiveness. Vegetables and cereals are there cultivated very successfully, and the surrounding prairies and forests, river and rivulets, teem with a great variety of game. Bonanza, therefore, enjoys many of the advantages denied to many neighboring frontier hamlets, and merits some attention from the outside world, among home seekers and pleasure hunters. Its people are energetic and progressive, judging by their enterprising strides in the way of substantial advancement during the past two years, albeit they are reputed to be as yet in a rather "unfinished." Stock raising is still their chief source of revenue, but they are at present considerably elated over their promise of railway connection with marts of the world at an early day. California and Nevada cattle merchants have taken from this valley during the past four months, many thousand head of as fine beef cattle, as may be found in any market, and yet the sources of supply are not wholly depleted. The more favored portions of southern Oregon are developing marvelously, and it is no wild conjecture to say that that section of the state will soon rank with those already regarded as enjoying a liberal portion of prosperous advancement.

PRESS PITH.

Of a general notorious for foraging, where it was safe, but who was often on the retreat, it was said that he left nothing behind but the enemy.—Cin. Sat. Night.

Most people who visit Niagara Falls are disappointed in the roar. They expect to hear something like the voice of a chairman at a ward caucus.—Detroit Free Press.

A sensation has been caused in a provincial town on the Pacific coast. The facts in the case are as follows: A family by the name of Harris rented a house in Wheatland, and then mysteriously disappeared.

A gentleman who took to medicine late in life said to a friend: "You know the old proverb, 'At forty a man must be a fool or a physician?'" "Yes," was the reply; "but, doctor, don't you think he can be both?"

"A fashion journal says that men's nightgowns are made with pockets in them." If somebody will now proceed to invent an India rubber flask that will not be injured by rolling on it, nightgowns will become the great summer resort.

Elderly spinster (who is being measured for a pair of boots)—"And mind you make one larger than the other." Attendant (with astonishment)—"Then they won't be fellows, ma'am!" E. S. (with asperity)—"Certainly not; I do not like fellows, and I will have nothing whatever to do with them."—Judy.

"Is that a tornado?" inquired a gentleman of a friend last evening as they sat in the library smoking their after dinner cigar. "Well, not exactly," replied the host, as the roaring increased in fury; "that is only my wife speaking to the servant girl for not telling you to wipe your feet before you came into the parlor."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

"A young swaggering, highly-dressed, drinking, boasting, sassy, brassy, impudent, swindling, lying, dare-devil insinuating, palavering, swearing, cheeky, mean, loud appearing, hypocritical, defiant sneak, hailing from Boston," is a New Hampshire paper's comprehensive characterization of a man who tried to run away from a Granite state summer resort without settling his bill.

A minister was traveling along a country road in Scotland one day in winter, riding rather a long, lean horse, and he himself dressed in rather an odd-looking cap and large camlet cloak, when a gentleman came along riding a fine horse, which "scared" at the preacher and his horse. "Well, sir," said the gentleman, "ye wud scare the vara dell, sir." "That's my business, sir," said the preacher.

Resume of the Week's Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Following is a report of the condition of trade for the week ending to-day: While business, as indicated by purchase of goods, shows great activity, there has been some loss of confidence owing to a number of important failures. These disasters, however, are more the result of speculative operations than individual departures from business principles. The stringent condition of the money market has added to the anxiety, though relief in this respect is leading to improvement in feeling regarding futures. In the dry goods trade, which is fairly active on the whole, commission houses are not doing much business, but are kept busy on deliveries on old orders. In the jobbing trade near by business is more active than in the other. Demands from the south and west are slacking somewhat. The print market is quiet; but some agents report fair deliveries. Woolen dress goods are in fair demand and the general woolen trade is fairly active. At auction the demand was only fair and the attendance somewhat limited; but considerable quantities of goods were placed at active prices.

All description of grain prices have been tending steadily downward. Fluctuations have been light, with the exception of corn, in which there have been occasional rapid changes.

In pork and lard there has been a fair amount of business doing. Fluctuations have been quite rapid but not wide, and the market on the whole has been weak, both bulls and bears seeming indisposed to engage in transactions.

Notwithstanding receipts of cotton are quite small and stocks are very moderate, in view of the prospects of a large crop, the market has been weakening, and holders who have been carrying cotton for some time have shown a disposition to throw off the entire load. The market has been weak throughout, and prices have tended steadily downward, with the heaviest decline in further off months.

There is nothing of special interest in wool, and the condition of trade is, on the whole, satisfactory. The petroleum business has been quite active, fluctuations being effected by varied reports in regard to the flow of oil, and perhaps considerably by the tight money market, in view of all of which the market is unexpectedly strong.

In freights the demand is backward, rates are steady, the supply of tonnage being light. Arrivals of butter are fully equal to the demand and stock which has been carried over from the summer months is still in stock, and probabilities are that holders will not make any money on their ventures. Fine grades are scarce and command 31 to 32c, but all other kinds are weak. Cheese has been doing better. Last week's trade seems to be smaller than last year at that time, and holders are disposed to look for better figures later on; 11½c can be obtained for the best quality.

Movement in raw sugars is quite limited, refiners being well supplied at present. Refined sugars are only in fair demand at lower prices. The tea market is still without animation. Holders are dissatisfied with the condition of affairs and are not pushing to realize at present rates. Brazil coffee market is dull with but little doing either by invoice or in jobbing. Speculation has been more active in American. Some considerable activity is felt, and deliveries on back orders continue quite heavy with prices firm.

There is moderate business in Scottish pig iron, with a tendency to better prices. Fair business is reported in boots and shoes. Duplicate orders are coming in well, and the season has been so far satisfactory. Leather prices are much firmer, with an upward tendency. A moderate business is being done and the general condition of trade is considered healthy.

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Overland freights are quite lively and shipments in the aggregate are large, including 65 bags coffee, 1124 packages tobacco, 525 cases milk, 65 boxes candles, 185 cases sauce, 25 boxes lemons, 30 barrels cranberries, 250 kegs herring, 3720 cases canned goods, 10 barrels currants, 187 boxes raisins, 212 cases champagne, 600 packages starch, 75 boxes soap and 159 cases lye. The market is generally quiet.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.

Receipts—Wheat, 136,000 centals; flour, 3500 qr sks; oats, 5000 ctls; potatoes, 4500 sks; eggs, 13,500 doz.

Wheat—The demand is fair, but buyers' views are below sellers. Quote choice shipping, $1 65@1 67½; choice to extra choice milling, $1 67½@1 70.

Barley—Feed—The spot market is easier; there is more selling pressure; No. 1 feed, $1 29@1 30. For futures the market is steady and quiet; No. 1 feed, November, $1 32.

Oats—The market is firm with a good demand, which is mostly speculative; quote from $1 50 to $1 65, according to quality.

Bran—No. 1 wheat bran, market very quiet, $17@$17 50.

Potatoes—Early Rose, 60a75c; river reds, 50a60c. The supply is larger than the demand.

Onions—Market is weak, 55a65c.

Lard—Cals., 5 to 10 lb tins, market quiet, with tendency to more ease; no change to note in prices. Eastern market firm at unchanged quotations.

Wool—Market steady with a fair amount of business doing. No change to note in quotations.

Eggs—Market firm, owing to a reduction of stocks, 40a42½c; market is well supplied with eastern at 25a30c.

Butter—Fresh Roll—Choice, 45a46½c; market is better supplied, but stocks are not accumulating.

FREIGHTS.

The market is steady.

BOGUS CERTIFICATES.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, etc., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

If you are a man of business, weakened by the strain of your duties avoid stimulants and use Hop Bitters.

If you are a man of letters toiling over midnight work, to restore brain nerve and waste, use Hop B.

If you are young and discretion or dissipation; if married or single, old or young, suffering from poor health or languishing on a bed of sickness, rely on Hop Bitters.

Whoever you are, wherever you feel that your system needs cleansing, toning or stimulating, without intoxicating, take Hop Bitters.

Have you dyspepsia, kidney or urinary complaint, disease of the stomach, bowels, blood, liver or nerves? You will be cured if you use Hop Bitters.

If you are simply weak and low spirited, try it! It may save your life. It has saved hundreds.

Thousands die annually from some form of Kidney disease that might have been prevented by a timely use of Hop Bitters.

D. I. C. is an absolute and irresistible cure for drunkenness, use of opium, tobacco, or narcotics.

Sold by druggists. Send for Circular.

THE ALBINA HOMESTEAD, of which the above is a complete plat, is situated next to Albina, and between and fronting on both the extension of Fourth street, East Portland, and the Vancouver road. All the lots in Blocks 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30 are 50x120 feet, with twenty-foot alleys through the blocks. All the other lots are 50x100 feet. The streets are wide and have all been cleared, while the lots are high and level and can be very easily cleared.

We now offer for sale for a short time a limited number of these Lots and Blocks at reasonable prices and on easy terms.

THE ALBINA HOMESTEAD is unquestionably the best field for investment and the most desirable place for location now in the market. Its close proximity to the cities of Portland and East Portland, and to the heavy improvements now being carried out by the various companies under the direction of Mr. Villard—the Dry Docks, Elevators, Machine Shops and other works of these companies—its nearness also to the Albina Ferry, together with the proposed Street Railway from L Street Ferry, in East Portland, will make this property very accessible from all parts of these cities. These advantages will necessarily attract a large population, and in the meantime make this the most popular and valuable suburban property in this vicinity, while in the near future it must furnish homes for the rapidly increasing population of Albina, and then its value will be at least five times what we now offer it for. We will show the property and give full information to all who may apply to us personally, and inquiries addressed to us by mail will receive prompt attention.

NOTICE OF FILING SUPLEMENTARY ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Oregon and Transcontinental Company, a corporation incorporated and organized under the laws of the State of Oregon, has filed Supplementary Articles of Incorporation for the purpose of engaging in the new enterprises or business pursuits in said supplementary Articles mentioned, which enterprises are in said Articles specified as follows:

The Oregon and Transcontinental Company hereby adopts the following Supplementary Articles of Incorporation, in addition to the present Articles of Incorporation of said company, for the purpose of engaging in the business and pursuit of laying out, constructing and equipping, maintaining and operating the hereinafter enumerated railroad and telegraph lines and branches and carrying freight and passengers thereon, and of receiving tolls for the same, and of engaging in the other new enterprises or business pursuits hereinafter specified, in addition to the enterprises described in the original articles, and in the same manner as if there were inserted at the end of the twelfth clause or section of the first subdivision of Article III of the original articles the following subdivisions:

13th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific Railroad, at or near the mouth of the Washtucna Coulee, in the Territory of Washington, in a generally easterly direction up said Washtucna Coulee, by way of Rebel Flat, to a point at or near the town of Moscow, in Idaho Territory, with a branch line from a junction with said line near the mouth of Rebel Flat Creek, in a generally northeasterly direction, by way of Cottonwood Creek to the town of Farmington, in said Territory of Washington.

And another branch line from a point of junction with said line, about three miles west of the town of Colfax, in the Territory of Washington, through the town of Colfax, and thence up the north branch of the Palouse river to its head.

14th—A railroad and telegraph line commencing at or near Sand Point station, on the Northern Pacific railroad, in the Territory of Idaho, and following down the valley of Clarke's Fork of the Columbia river to its junction with the Columbia river; thence down the valley of the Columbia river to a point at or near the town of Ainsworth, in Washington Territory.

15th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad at or near the town of Spokane Falls, in the Territory of Washington, by the most practicable route, via the valley of the Colville river, to the junction of the said Colville river with the Columbia river, in said territory.

16th—A railroad and telegraph line from, at or near the town of Spokane Falls, in the Territory of Washington, down the Spokane river to its mouth.

17th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad, at or near the town of Spokane Falls, in the Territory of Washington, in a general northwesterly direction, via the middle pass of the Grand Coulee to the Columbia river, about seven miles above Old Fort Okinakane, with a branch line from a junction with said line at said middle pass of the Grand Coulee, in a general westerly direction to the Columbia river, at a point about ten miles above the mouth of the Winatchie river.

18th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad near Lake Colville, in the Territory of Washington, in a generally westerly direction by the way of Sylvan Lake and Crab Creek, skirting the southern slope of the Badger Mountains, to the Columbia river crossing the said river at the most eligible point below the mouth of the Wanatchie river, thence up the Wanatchie river to its head, crossing the Cascade Mountains at Ward's Pass, thence down the Skyhomish and Snohomish rivers to the town of Cadyville, thence in a northerly direction along the shore of Puget Sound to Fidalgo Island in said Territory of Washington.

19th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point at or near Thirty Mile Well station, on the Northern Pacific railroad, in the Territory of Washington, to Ringgold Bar, in the Columbia river; thence in a generally westerly direction by the most practicable route to Yakima City, thence up the Natches river, crossing the Cascade Mountains at Natches Pass, thence in a generally northwesterly direction to the city of New Tacoma, in said Territory of Washington.

20th—A railroad and telegraph line from, at or near the town of Ainsworth, in Washington Territory, in a generally northwesterly direction up the Yakima river, crossing the Cascade Mountains at Garfield pass, thence in a generally northwesterly direction to the city of Seattle, in the Territory of Washington.

21st—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific railroad, at or near Lake Colville, in Washington Territory, in a generally northerly direction, to the Big Bend of the Columbia river in said territory.

22d—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific railroad at or near Rathdrum station, in Idaho Territory, in a southeasterly direction to Fort Cœur d'Alene, in said territory.

23d—A railroad and telegraph line from a point at or near the town of Spokane Falls, on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad, in Washington Territory, in a generally southeasterly direction, a distance of about sixty miles up the valley of Hangman's Creek, to its head, in the Territory of Idaho.

24th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Northern Pacific railroad at or near the town of Cheney, in the Territory of Washington, in a generally southeasterly direction to a connection with the aforesaid line, from the mouth of Rebel Flat to the town of Farmington.

25th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Columbia river at or near the mouth of Ne-hol-al-pitkwa river in Washington Territory, up said Ne-hol-al-pitkwa river to the mouth of Rock Creek, thence in a generally westerly direction, by the most practicable route to Lake Oso-yoos, in said territory.

26th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point upon the Columbia river at or near the mouth of San Puell river, in the Territory of Washington, in a generally northerly direction to a junction with the last mentioned line, about forty miles east of Lake Oso-yoos.

27th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point on the Columbia river, at or near the mouth of the Okinakane river, in the Territory of Washington, in a generally northerly direction to Lake Oso-yoos.

28th—A railroad and telegraph line from the town of Lewiston on Snake river, in Idaho Territory, in a generally easterly direction up the valley of Clearwater river, crossing the Bitter Root Mountains to the town of Missoula, in the Territory of Montana.

29th—A railroad and telegraph line from the town of Lewiston, in Idaho Territory, in a southerly direction, up the valley of the Snake river, to a point at or near Boise City in said territory.

30th—A railroad and telegraph line from a point of junction with the Northern Pacific railroad, running from the town of Kalama to the city of New Tacoma, in the Territory of Washington, about miles south of said city of New Tacoma, in a generally northerly direction to the city of Seattle in said territory.

And by inserting at the end of the eighth subdivision of Article 3 the following subdivisions:

9. To facilitate and assist in the construction, and to contract for the construction, building, extension, equipment, and operation of any railroad or telegraph line, steamship or steamboat line, in any of the provinces of the dominion of Canada, and in any of the states or territories of the United States, connecting or intending to connect, or exchange traffic with any railroad, steamship, or steamboat line of this corporation, or with the main or any of the branch lines of railroad of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, and to construct, equip, and operate under such contract or contracts, any such railroad or telegraph line, steamship or steamboat lines.

10. To subscribe for or purchase the shares of stock or bonds of any company, owning or operating any railroad and telegraph line, steamship, or steamboat line, in any of the provinces of Canada, and in any of the states and territories of the United States, connecting or intending to connect with, or exchange traffic with any railroad, steamship or steamboat line of this corporation, or with the main line or any of the branch lines of railroad of the Northern Pacific railroad Co., and to guarantee or otherwise secure the payment of such bonds and interest thereon, and stock and dividends thereon, by pledge or mortgage of the property of this company or any part thereof or otherwise.
